

SMH-MUN III

Saturday, March 21, 2015

Research

- ✚ The best way to start research is to figure out your countries stance on the topic at hand. Here are some useful links to get started on the basics of your country. Use whatever statistics you think will help you prove your point on the subject. Use any other websites

<https://www.cia.gov/library/publications/the-world-factbook/>

<http://www.una.org.uk/content/countries-be-included-mun>

- ✚ Make sure you fully understand your countries stance on the topic as well as potentially friendly or unfriendly countries to yours.
- ✚ Read your committees background guide carefully and research your countries beliefs specifically on the committee topic.
- ✚ It will also be useful to understand your countries socio-economic status and research some statistics for your countries imports and exports.
- ✚ Feel free to expand your research options to journals and recent news as well.
- ✚ Finally, make sure you are constantly thinking about a resolution to you committees problem.